Chronicles India

The rich history, heritage and millions of mythological tales of India has made the world look back us with lot of jealous. Being the pride of our country it had interested us in Chronicles India to look at ways and means to get this across to as many people as possible. Chronicles India being a tech savvy organization developed the vision of using technology to convey the hidden messages that our history has to offer. Thus born was "Pallava Dynasty – A Time Travel" where the Pallava Kingdom meets the present age people through 7DX technology.

The journey of Chronicles India has started the journey with the Pallavas and looking to reach each and every historically significant corner of India

Mahabalipuram

Mahabalipuram is one of history's intriguing enigmas. The ancient Mamallapuram, commonly known as Mahabalipuram, was flourishing port town of the Pallava rulers of south India who chiselled in stone a fabulous "open-air museum" of sculpture under the vault of a burning sky.

Recognized as a UNESCO heritage site and located about 60 kms from Chennai, Mahabalipuram the coastal town is a heavenly abode for foreigners and a preferred leisure destination for Indian tourists. With rich cultural heritage, an amazing shore line, friendly people and beautiful sunset, Mahabalipuram has something to offer to everyone and appeal to every sense of an individual be it the quest for history, a love for art or just a need to chill.

Entertainment as every other genre has evolved over a period of time from a single dimension to multiple dimensions. Now, for the first ever Chronicles India offers a futuristic 7 Dimensional experience with the sole intention of blowing you away not just with the rich history of Pallavas but by involving all your senses not just 6 but an additional 7th one too.

A concept that presents to the world the age old heritage and culture in an enthralling way catering to all age groups. This is one of the most easiest ways to learn our age old traditions and in a way that no one can forget. With the technology that transports one into the age of the pallavas, the viewer becomes a part of the time period and will learn the significance of the Pallava reign and their contribution to our history without flipping a page or breaking a sweat. It is like learning while on a picnic, Is there a better way to learn and enjoy history? we don't think so...
